Facilitating Water Classrooms through Interactive Pedagogy: Living Waters Museum

Chhavi Mathur and Sara Ahmed

“Water only can be saved,
For it can not be made
Dadaji (Grandpa) saw it in the river
Father saw it in the well
We’ve only seen it in taps
But what about our children?
Where will they see it?
No one knows
No one knows
No one knows...”

Our process

- Content development: collaborative
- Educators, NGOs, subject matter experts, research students, designers, artists
- Research / learning outcomes / lesson plans / facilitator's notes / activities
- Peer review: interactive, innovative, inclusive (equity, gender, discrimination)
- Workshops with middle school children in Pune from diverse backgrounds - testing
- Evaluation and feedback: students, faculty

Water and Access: The Privilege Game

Water and what I can do

Knowledge of the traditional and the modern can help pave the way for the sustainable: cross-generational and cross-cultural communication.

Teaching Plans

Water and the Self ~ visual, inquiry-based

Shared Waters ~ interactive, experiential

Our Water Systems ~ interdisciplinary

Water and the Planet ~ systems thinking

*version 1 tested
under revision*

Skills/competencies

- Observing the world around us
  - Multiple perspectives
  - Working in groups
    - Negotiation

Water Classrooms are being adapted and contextualised by the Musée de l'Eau to develop a program on water education for primary school students in Burkina Faso: rural, conflict, French

Pilot-testing of teaching plans on Water Management and Water Cycle through storytelling and art activities.
