

WHEN WATERS SPEAK

ART, JOURNALISM, AND SCIENCE: A COLLABORATION ON WATER AND CLIMATE CHANGE STORYTELLING

29 January 2024
2:00 – 3:30 pm CET

Nelleke Broeze, Voices from the Valley (short stories) in collaboration with ARIJ, 2023'

This session will spotlight the success of 'Rewriting Climate Headlines', a summer school hosted at the Royal Academy of Art in the Hague (KABK) in collaboration with the Arab Reporters for Investigative Journalism (ARIJ) in the summer of 2023.

This initiative brought together artists, researchers, and investigative journalists to explore the potential of cross-disciplinary collaboration and develop innovative approaches to storytelling about environmental justice. The webinar will particularly delve into a climate story related to water scarcity in the Jordan Valley and the voices of female farmers.

Programme

- 02:00 – 02:10: Webinar Welcome by Eriberto Eulisse, Global Network of Water Museums
- 02:10 – 02:40: Panel Presentations
- Niels Schrader, Non-Linear Narrative Department, Royal Academy of Art (KABK), The Hague
  - E'thar AlAzem, Arab Reporters for Investigative Journalism (ARIJ)
  - Nelleke Broeze, Artist
  - Boris van Westering, Building Bridges Advies
- 02:40 – 03:00: Roundtable Discussion with Panellists (Moderator Alice Chautard)
- 03:00 – 03:25: Audience Q&A
- 03:25 – 03:30: Closing Remarks by Emanuele Fantini, IHE Delft

---

'When Waters Speak' brings together researchers, artists, museum curators, and all people curious to discover how we can represent and give voice to water at the intersection of education, science, arts, and communication. The webinar series is promoted by the Global Network of Water Museums and IHE Delft Institute for Water Education, with funds from the Dutch Ministry of Water and Infrastructure, and from the Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs through IHE Delft "Water and Development Partnership Program".